

Do., 24.5.18 um 20 Uhr im RegenbogenKino

It's the 50th anniversary of May 68!

Student revolt and a general strike erupted, and widespread discontent gave rise to one of the most orgasmic political events of the 20th century. With ripples and shockwaves, the actions, sentiments and many poetic + pragmatic revolutionary manifestations became a nearly global-wide scream for Another Possible World !

" Sous les pavés, la plage !

Beneath the cobblestones, the beach!" - agitprop expression in France

This Double-Feature episode of C-KiNO gathers both historical views (archival) and realtime evidence (current media) of another volcanic potency spreading today. Only now, the contexts seem even more urgent and volatile than before. In the dark grip of the Anthropocene crisis, i.e. scientific analysis + theory which reveals a highly likely - if not guaranteed - total environmental collapse in the absence of a radical reformatting of social organization, we look for revolutionary strategies that might lead us out of a calamitous cul de sac. We screen a mix of materials to discuss, from the creative La ZAD resistance in France to the new fights against the "cybernetic regimes" (Spectacle 2.0) like FuckoffGoogle !

Beneath the Anthroposcreens, the breach !"